

H. E. TURNER, Proprietor

BUCHANAN'S FLAG!

H. BUCHANAN is Offering Some Grand Bargains in the Following Goods:

Big bargains in Floss Clothing.
Big bargains in Flannels.
Big bargains in ladies trimmed Hats.
Big bargains in Bed Comforts.

Big bargains in Boots and Shoes.
Big bargains in Blankets.
Big bargains in Bathing Suits.
Big bargains in Bed Comforts.

Big bargains in Cloaks & Russian Circulars.
Big bargains in Dress Goods.
Big bargains in Trunks and Valises.
Big bargains in Linen Tablecloths.

Big bargains in Overcoats.
Big bargains in mens and boys Hats.
Big bargains in ladies Skirts.

H. BUCHANAN.

THE HICKMAN COURIER.

THE YEAR 1895.

Before another issue of the Courier shall greet its many readers, has your 1894 will be numbered, and the New Year 1895, born. The practical of life has extinguished so much of sentiment that bled us in former years, that we are left to feel more than we can express, in witnessing the transition. We hope our people will be more blessed in 1895 than they have been in 1894. Our memory is fresh and green with events and incidents enjoyed or suffered the past year, and with all accounts are balanced, leaving good and good will to all. The sufferings, the troubles, the happy faces heaved in death, the smiling faces had forever, are entwined with the living year, and only the good and true remember. This is the true philosophy of life, for what cannot be cured must be endured, and there is truth too much of good in the human breast to be entirely lost. The New Year will bring new scenes, new trials—new hopes. It opens a new page in our book of life, and no human being has read to one had passed beyond the point where we stand to voice back to us cheerful greetings or words of danger. All that we can do is to move with caution upon each step that is given as to take, trusting alone to the mild, whispered admonition of the Ever Presence to conscience, that has led through dark and light scenes that are passed and forever gone. Let us be guided by the divine transcript that has come down to us through remote ages, cheering hearts of the depending, manly; then we can possess the breathings of aspirations, noble desires, and stimulating hopes. Then let our aim be to live the year 1895 in life's varied scenes, the commencement of the clearest leaves of future personal annals, till we shall step from the car of time into the depot of eternity.

CLIMBERS for the Legislature are announced in some Kentucky counties. This is too early, and the people ought to rebuke it by refusing to elect any candidates. Such early aspirants are only trying to head off opposition—to bulldoze the field. There is something rotten about a man is willing to make a six months active canvass for the vote worth only three or four hundred dollars.

There was between the U. S. Senate and the House, gave the day. The Senate is an aristocratic body, and attempts by all possible means to hedge itself like the English House of Lords. The people resent this, and will resist it. A Senator, who, at home, is half-fellow, can hardly be approached by a citizen in Washington.

PRICES are settling down to a lower base. The farmer doesn't get quite as much for his produce, but he gets manufactured goods correspondingly cheaper. He doesn't get as many dollars, but the dollars he does get will buy just as much. So he is not seriously hurt by the hard times, except the man who is dead. Debt remains dollar for dollar.

THE WAR in Dakota over the county seat removal, the citizenship about equally divided, and both constantly under arms, is reported as a hot affair, but the telegraph reports the thermometer at 20 degrees below zero here which looks to us like a very cold affair.

Our very editorial of the Conservative referring to welcome Congressman Randall here, and Kentucky hospitality, and Mr. will be given the grandest ovation ever given to any citizen visiting Louisville. The C. J. Overholser is the mark.

Teachers attending the Association "may find trip tickets to Louisville at one fare from all points in Kentucky on Dec. 23 and 29. Good returning until Jan. 2.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPEN.

President McKinley's Message.

The telegraph announcement that President Arthur opened the New Orleans Exposition was placed in the last issue. Executive Mansion is the 18th. Mr. McKinley's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPEN.

President McKinley's Message.

The telegraph announcement that President Arthur opened the New Orleans Exposition was placed in the last issue. Executive Mansion is the 18th. Mr. McKinley's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPEN.

President McKinley's Message.

The telegraph announcement that President Arthur opened the New Orleans Exposition was placed in the last issue. Executive Mansion is the 18th. Mr. McKinley's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPEN.

President McKinley's Message.

The telegraph announcement that President Arthur opened the New Orleans Exposition was placed in the last issue. Executive Mansion is the 18th. Mr. McKinley's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPEN.

President McKinley's Message.

The telegraph announcement that President Arthur opened the New Orleans Exposition was placed in the last issue. Executive Mansion is the 18th. Mr. McKinley's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPEN.

President McKinley's Message.

The telegraph announcement that President Arthur opened the New Orleans Exposition was placed in the last issue. Executive Mansion is the 18th. Mr. McKinley's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPEN.

President McKinley's Message.

The telegraph announcement that President Arthur opened the New Orleans Exposition was placed in the last issue. Executive Mansion is the 18th. Mr. McKinley's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.

The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th. The President's message to Congress, which was in charge of the Exposition, was in the 19th.